The Arab American National Museum (AANM) documents, preserves and presents the history, culture and contributions of Arab Americans. Since opening in Dearborn, Michigan, U.S.A. in 2005 – amid the largest concentration of Arabs outside the Arab World – the AANM has remained the only institution among America's 17,500 museums to focus on Arab Americans.

The Arab American National Museum...

IS THE ONLY cultural institution among the 17,500 museums in the United States to document, preserve and present the history, culture and contributions of Arab Americans.

IS ACCREDITED by the American Alliance of Museums, the “Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval” earned by just 6% of America’s museums; is one of approximately 160 Affiliates of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.; and is a founding member of the Immigration and Civil Rights Network – International Coalition of Sites of Conscience.

HAS DISTINGUISHED itself in just a few short years as a highly successful institution, as evidenced by funder and audience support; national awards for its leaders and programs; and ability to produce and tour exhibitions nationally.

HOLDS THE single-largest collection of research materials by and about Arab Americans, including collections donated by noted scholars Michael W. Suleiman and Evelyn Shakir.

PROMOTES RESPECT for Arab Americans and all Americans, regardless of ethnic heritage, by shedding light on the shared experiences of immigrants and the value of a diverse citizenry.

Your Membership furthers the Museum’s mission in a fundamental way, by supporting initiatives such as...

RESEARCHING and producing exhibitions that preserve and celebrate Arab American history, culture and contributions, for presentation at the Museum and in venues across the U.S.

PROVIDING factual information and resources via educational outreach efforts; online exhibits and programs available free on iTunes U; and the AANM Library & Resource Center – the nation’s largest repository of information and materials by and about Arab Americans.

ENGAGING Arab Americans and all Americans in public programs in safe, welcoming environments that contribute in a positive way to the national civil discourse on issues of import.

AANM MEMBERS help sustain the first and only institution dedicated to telling the Arab American story. Whether you live nearby and visit regularly, or engage electronically and in spirit from wherever you are, your AANM Membership keeps you connected to this national treasure and helps ensure it will be here for future generations to enjoy.
