Representations and Perceptions of Arab Americans

All resources on this list are accessible to a general audience, but those entries followed with an [S] were mainly written for a scholarly audience.

This guide provides bibliographic information for books, book chapters, and scholarly articles. Although not exhaustive, it provides starting points by including the most useful sources for both beginning researchers and experienced scholars. Some works with older publication dates may seem outdated, but are included because the information they provide has heavily influenced more recent writers and are seen as key texts in the field. Also, keep in mind that many of the books are edited volumes, and thus contain a wide range of topics within the individual chapters.

Representations and Perceptions of Arab Americans

“Selling American Diversity and Muslim American Identity through Non-Profit Advertising Post-911,” by Evelyn Alsultany. American Quarterly 59.3 (Fall 2007). [S]

